Wells, H. G. and Stover, Leon. The Time Machine: An Invention: A Critical Text of the 1895 London First Edition, with an Introduction and Appendices. McFarland & Company, 1996.

Leon Stover appears to have been generally disliked among Wells scholars, especially the hardline socialists - since he highlighted the racist, eugenic and proto-fascistic elements in Wells. As a result some scholars then relentlessly used reviews to pick up on a small number of - usually rather trivial - errors and oversights among Stover’s vast range of footnotes and annotations. Nevertheless, he is still worth reading but should be quoted with due caution and careful fact-checking. Later reprinted by McFarland & Company, 2012.
